Recovery Camp
18-22 June 2018
Chevilly (Loiret), France

Since its inception in september 2011, the French Hearing Voices Network has been committed to inform and to train people about the experience of hearing voices and how to work with it, becoming a model and an inspiration in terms of recovery in mental health. Today, we are proud to invite you to the first recovery camp ever organized in France, which will take place June 18th-22nd at the Château de Cossoles, in Chevilly (Loiret).

Take advantage of a verdant space, in the middle of the royal forest of Orléans, to explore the experience of voices, find ways to overcome paranoia, as well as get involved in a series of stimulating workshops in the company of an international team of skilled facilitators! And above all, come and live with us an inspiring and shared human adventure...

Why a Recovery Camp?

The French Hearing Voices Network

The French Hearing Voices Network (REV France) is a not for profit organization which aims at facilitating the social integration of people hearing voices.

Hearing voices and other unusual experiences (such as visions, olfactory, and gustatory perceptions...) often lead to social isolation of people experiencing them for fear of the judgement of others or of being labelled mentally ill if they speak of these experiences. Some people have been diagnosed as "psychotics" or "schizophrenics" by psychiatric institutions. To every person interested we offer a safe space to talk and share about hearing voices and other experiences and the ways to cope with them in order to live a satisfying life.

The French Hearing Voice Network, it's...

- a community of people (voice hearers, professionals and users of psychiatry, relatives and friends) who work together toward a constructive and helpful approach to voices;
- hearing voices groups where anyone can share about their experiences of voices and strategies to deal with them;
- thematic meetings to learn about and debate important subject matters like the notion of « illness » in mental health, the use of psychiatric medications, or the medicalizing of social distress;
- information and training events on voices and recovery (human rights advocacy and reclaiming our lives) opened to the general public as well as voice hearers, families and mental health workers.

The concept of "mental illness" used in psychiatry imposes limitations on people whereas the process of recovery widens the horizon for everyone involved, where "patients", relatives, as well as professionals find hope and inspiration. In this perspective, everyone is invited to determine for him or herself what matters to them in their lives and what are their objectives. Each and every recovery journey is as unique as the person leading it!

The recovery camp is based on the simple principle of offering a diversity of perspectives in the same place and for the duration of the camp, allowing every participant to follow his or her own path while benefitting from the energy and the support of the group. During the whole camp, times of sharing and of spirituality will be offered in order to facilitate connections between us and with the Universe.

Workshops offered: working with voices with Ron Coleman; working through paranoia with Peter Bullimore; masks and voices with Gigi Grante; drama with Juliette Kempf; rediscovering my body with Marie Bertherat; constellations, dreams and psychophany with Emilie Houin; cooking and health with Yann Derobert...
